Shannon Allen DeWitt LLP

Shannon's practice focuses on business, trust and estate, and employment litigation. She makes a consistent contribution to pro bono service with the MVLC at the Milwaukee Justice Center. "I recommend lawyers share their legal skills and talents outside of their regular practice because there is a real and immediate need to provide pro bono legal services in our community."

Amanda Beggs Foley & Lardner LLP

Amanda is senior counsel on Foley's environmental law team and is a steady volunteer with the remote clinics held on Zoom. "Pro bono service helps me feel a part of our community in new ways and the skills and perspectives I gain through pro bono service make me a better practitioner."

Josh Bernstein Godfrey & Kahn s.c.

Josh is on Godfrey's litigation practice group and a regular volunteer at the House of Peace. "I started my pro bono practice in law school and have never stopped. I recommend it because it's mutually beneficial to the community and the student, allowing you to employ newly acquired legal skills as early as your first year."

Larry Burnett
Reinhart Boerner Van Deuren s.c.

Larry is a member of Reinhart's corporate law group, focused on closely held businesses, mergers and acquisitions, and corporate finance. "I volunteer at the MVLC because every time I walk through the packed waiting areas I remember the tremendous need as well as the great impact the clinics have."

Ruby DeLeon
Gamino Law Offices, LLC

Ruby is in private practice with a focus on criminal defense. She was an active participant in pro bono work during law school and continues with the work now. "It is very rewarding to provide relief directly to the members of our community often facing tough issues."

Megan Drury
Gimbel, Reilly, Guerin & Brown, LLP

Megan practices family law. "I started volunteering in the legal clinics before I even started law school. I kept it up through law school and still do it today to further our goal as a profession that everyone have equitable access to legal assistance."

Richard Esparza

Fiserv, Inc.

As counsel to Fiserv, Inc., Richard handles a steady flow of contracts and contract negotiations. "I started volunteering with the MVLC in law school and continue to do it because I really enjoy the work. It keeps me connected to a group of clients I don't serve in my everyday practice and working alongside law students is a bonus. We all learn together."

Jacob Lichter

Quarles & Brady LLP

Jake Lichter assists clients with taxable and tax-exempt debt offerings on Quarles' public finance team. "I volunteer at the MVLC and hope you will too because it's an excellent place to meet new people, experience areas of law I never get to in my ordinary practice, and give back."

Maria Lopez

Maria I. Lopez Immigration Law

Maria has a solo practice and is a member of the American Immigration Lawyers Association. She has been volunteering with the MVLC since law school. "I volunteer because it is very important to me to give back to my community and the MVLC provides a very convenient yet meaningful way to do so."

Aleina McGettrick
Moertl, Wilkins & Campbell, S.C.

Aleina's practice focuses on estate planning, probate, and elder law. "I volunteered in law school because it was a way for me to get involved in the community and learn different areas of law. Now, as a practicing attorney, I continue volunteering to help people in our community that may not have access to legal assistance any other way."

Jessica Lothman
Foley & Lardner LLP

Jes is part of Foley's Finance & Financial Institutions, Healthcare Finance, and Public Finance practice groups. "I remain a volunteer with the MVLC because it is an opportunity to understand and help address issues impacting our community while connecting with future lawyers and fulfilling my professional responsibility to do pro bono. Simply put, it is a fun and fulfilling opportunity to provide essential civil legal services."

Vince Morrone
Michael Best & Friedrich LLP

Vince is a partner at Michael Best, representing clients involved in various types of business transactions. He sets aside time to advise small businesses & nonprofits with the MVLC. "I recommend volunteering with the MVLC because it's a great organization and a great way to give back."
