Dear Community Business Leader:

We write to you today as the Co-Presidents and members of the Marquette University Law School’s Public Interest Law Society (PILS). Each year, PILS organizes the Howard B. Eisenberg Do-Gooders’ Auction to fund fellowships for law students.

Those who contributed to our last Auction made it possible for 28 law students to spend their summers serving public interest, nonprofit, and government agencies that assist low-income and underserved individuals. See who they are and where they worked on the attached page. Without help from community members like you, many law students could not provide this invaluable assistance. Over the past nine years, more than 130 students have provided over 53,000 hours of legal services to more than 45 different non-profit agencies.

As we organize the 24th Annual Auction, our goal is to continue funding fellowships for law students who are ready, willing, and able to serve others. This year’s Auction will be held on Friday, February 17, 2017, in Eckstein Hall. Over 400 friends of Marquette Law School attend the Auction. Donations of goods are tax deductible and businesses that donate are thanked in print in the Auction program. We hope you will consider making a contribution.

If interested, please complete the attached donation form and mail it with your donation using the attached envelope. Or let us know if the item needs to be picked up by contacting any of us listed below. We look forward to partnering with you to support the good work of PILS.

Sincerely,

Katie Czapanskiy and Ami Regele
