TEXTBOOK AND FIRST DAY ASSIGNMENT INFORMATION

TEXTBOOKS

First year, full-time and part-time day students: Do not purchase textbooks until you receive an email from the Law School confirming your class schedule. You can expect that email to arrive in early August.

Required Law School textbook information can be found in two online locations:

• The Fall 2016 “Snapshot of Classes” for the Law School – scroll to the course title and specific section of each class for which you are registered and click on the “View Textbooks” link.

• Through specific Book Marq instructions and links – follow directions to access the required textbooks through your CheckMarq account. You will need your Marquette username and password to access your CheckMarq account. You can also order textbooks from the University bookstore (“BookMarq”) directly through this site.

If ordering textbooks through vendors other than the Book Marq, pay close attention to the edition of text required by the professor. The ISBN number should correlate with the correct edition.

FIRST-DAY ASSIGNMENTS

Beginning August 3, each of the Law School’s fall courses will have an individual course webpage. First-day assignments for each course are to be posted by faculty on or before August 15, on the corresponding course page. Most of the course pages will also have textbook information posted;

To access this information beginning August 3:

• Go to the Law School website at http://law.marquette.edu
• Sign into the site (upper-right-hand corner) with your Marquette username and password.
• Double-click the “Current Students” tab at the top of the homepage.
• Click the link “Courses & Materials” in the left hand side-bar.
• Click “Fall Semester 2016” to view the list of courses offered in Fall 2016.
• Note that you can view the courses either alphabetically by course title or numerically by course number.
• Scroll through the list of courses to find the courses/sections for which you are registered. Pay close attention to the section for which you are registered, not just the course itself. Professors may require a specific text for their section of a course that another professor teaching the same course may not require.
• Click the course title to access the course page.

Please note that course pages are updated on a daily basis. If there is no assignment listed when you initially check the site, be sure to check the course page periodically.
