The sponsoring schools are planning for an on-site summer session in Giessen, Germany. However, prior to the program’s start date, the sponsoring schools may switch to an online-only program in response to health and safety conditions in Germany or if the German government cancels in-person education. Students who have applied to the program will be notified immediately after that date whether the program will be held in-person as planned or whether it will transition to virtual instruction.

In the event of a switch to online courses, all applicants will have the option to withdraw from the program and receive a refund or to continue to participate in the program online. In the event that the program is offered online, the same courses will be offered and the same faculty will participate, although scheduling may impose limits on course choice.
The sponsoring schools reserve the right to cancel the program in its entirety prior to the program start date if health and/or safety concerns make it impossible to offer the program.

Due to the uncertainty caused by the coronavirus outbreak, students should not purchase any nonrefundable airline tickets or make any final travel plans prior to April 1, 2022. The program sponsors will provide accepted applicants with travel and flight information no later than April 1.

Applications are due March 15, 2022.

Applications received after the due date may be accepted if space permits.

Tuition and fees for the program is $5,000. Students are responsible for their own costs of transportation to and from Germany.

Students will be billed for tuition and fees separately from this application. Please see the program website for additional information about both academic and non-academic fees.
