

Expungement & Pardon Clinic Summer 2026

Is your WI criminal conviction eligible for expungement or a pardon?

Try our NEW self-assessment tool! Scan the QR code or go to our website. Answer a few questions about your case/s to get an initial assessment of your eligibility.

This form only accepts 100 submissions per month! If it is disabled, check back on the first of the next month.

After you complete the assessment form, you'll have the option to ask for more help from our volunteer legal team.

Is your felony eligible for a Governor's pardon?

A pardon acts as a grant of forgiveness and restores rights lost as a result of a felony conviction. All of the following must be true:

- You have at least 1 Wisconsin felony conviction.
- It's been at least 5 years since you completed ANY criminal sentence (including misdemeanors, out-of-state cases, etc). Completing a sentence means serving all jail/prison time AND probation /extended supervision.
- You have no pending/open criminal cases or charges.
- You are not currently on the sex offender registry.

Is your conviction eligible for expungement?

Getting a case expunged removes it from the public (CCAP) record. WI's expungement law is extremely narrow, so most people can't get their cases expunged. Key eligibility info:

- You had to be under age 25 and the case had to be from 2009 or later.
- The judge had to find your case eligible at sentencing. There's no way to ask for it later!
- If the judge found your case eligible and you successfully completed your sentence, the case should already be expunged. If it's still on CCAP, it might mean you still owed a balance or had probation violations (there's no way to get it expunged now).
